

£12 million boost for youth projects

Youth projects across the country will receive a £12 million boost as part of the Government's commitment to help young people thrive and level up opportunities, Culture Secretary Nicky Morgan announced today.