

£250 million contract for next phase for Future Combat Air System

The new contract will drive forward the concept and assessment phase of the Future Combat Air System.