

30,000 hours of extra patrols help reduce antisocial behaviour

Targeted uniformed patrols in hotspot areas have helped drive down antisocial behaviour by over 30% in some areas, according to reports from policing.