

50 first dates for Salisbury's most eligible water voles

A colony of water voles moved from Salisbury to Ringwood has just had a population boom with 50 new males and females moving in to make the population viable.