

£85 million pledged to tackle antibiotic emergency

Funding of £85 million will be announced at a global event to support the international community in tackling the growing threat of antimicrobial resistance.