

A taste of greatness

A state-of-the-art food sensory lab that could see UK consumers playing an important role in livestock genetics is making its debut at this year's Royal Highland Show (21-24 June).