Adapt or die, says Environment Agency

With less than three weeks to COP26, Environment Agency warns that adaptation — becoming resilient to the effects of climate change — is just as vital as mitigation