

Airports granted extensions to install cutting-edge security technology

New scanners detect prohibited items with greater accuracy, which will make air travel safer and easier for UK passengers.