

Andy Samuel appointed to the Met Office Board as non-executive director

The Met Office's newly appointed non-executive director, Andy Samuel, is a highly respected leader with extensive experience across start-ups, large multinational companies and government.