

Anonymous hotline for forensic science professionals launched

People working in forensic science can now report concerns about quality standards anonymously via a new hotline.