

Appeal for local knowledge to achieve tree planting ambitions in York

The Environment Agency is appealing for help from York residents to decide where new trees should be planted as part of the city's flood defence scheme.