The licensing regime for property management companies and property management practitioners, formulated by the Property Management Services Authority (PMSA) in accordance with the Ordinance, will be implemented from August 1, 2020. According to the Ordinance, a person aggrieved by the decisions made by the PMSA in respect of licensing matters, including the decisions made by the PMSA in respect of issuance or renewal of a licence, licence conditions, disciplinary hearings and orders, may lodge an appeal. The Chairperson of the Appeal Panel must appoint from the Appeal Panel an appeal tribunal to hear the appeal. The appeal tribunal may confirm, vary or reverse any decision, finding or order to which the appeal relates.
