Help celebrate Global Citizenship Month!

The One World Centre is hosting a really exciting online Book Chat on Wednesday 9th September 4pm – 5.15pm.

The purpose is to bring teachers together to share books they have used with their pupils to help them develop a greater awareness of our world, and consider the role they can play in helping to make it a fairer, better place for everyone.

Also invited is Barbara Henderson, author of the beautifully written "Wilderness Wars", to talk about her book and its associated resources for teachers.

You can listen to teachers talk about their favourite books – fiction and real-life stories – to engage and inspire children and young people.

And if you have a book on a Global Citizenship theme you'd like to share, that would be even better!
