

Air quality improvements must remain

From the Evening Telegraph :

Improved air must remain

A WEST End councillor has said that improvements to air quality must not be lost when "normality" returns.

Councillor Fraser Macpherson noted air quality levels across Dundee have "significantly improved" with far less vehicle usage during the coronavirus pandemic.

Lochee Road, which is in Mr Macpherson's ward, ranked amongst Scotland's most polluted streets in a recent survey conducted by Friends of the Earth.

He said levels of nitrogen dioxide had reduced by more than 10% there in recent weeks.

He added: "It is a very challenging time due to Covid-19.

"The council must act to ensure that cleaner air is a long-term benefit to everyone in the city."

'Shine a light' for nurses

The public are being asked to 'shine a light' to mark International Nurses Day on Tuesday and recognise the extraordinary work that nurses are doing in the fight against coronavirus.

Executive to consider recovery plan

First Minister Arlene Foster and deputy First Minister Michelle O'Neill participated in a COBR call this afternoon with the Prime Minister Boris Johnston and the First Ministers of Scotland and Wales.
