

SRPA initiates prosecution against first-hand residential development vendor for suspected contraventions of ordinance

The Sales of First-hand Residential Properties Authority (SRPA) today (May 17) said that, a vendor, in offering a first-hand residential development to be sold by way of tender, was suspected of contravening the Residential Properties (First-hand Sales) Ordinance because of insufficient transparency in the transaction information. The SRPA has laid a summons to initiate prosecution against the vendor concerned.

The SRPA noticed earlier that there were individual cases of first-hand residential developments offered to be sold by way of tender with insufficient transparency in the sales process and the transaction information, which might have contravened the Ordinance. As such, the SRPA proactively investigated these cases. After investigation, collecting evidence and seeking Department of Justice's advice, it is decided to prosecute the vendor of the development concerned.

The development concerned is located at Pak Shek Kok. After selling the relevant residential properties in the development on March 22, 2019, the vendor did not set out full details of the terms of payment in the Register of Transactions and was suspected of contravening sections 59(1)(g) and 59(6) of the Ordinance.

The case will be heard in Kwun Tong Magistrates' Courts on July 9.

According to the Ordinance, the vendor commits an offence if it does not set out the terms of payment (including any discount on the price, and any gift, or any financial advantage or benefit, made available in connection with the purchase) in the Register of Transactions for the development and is liable to a fine of $500,000 upon conviction.

Apart from the above prosecution work, the SRPA issued a Reminder for the Trade on April 12, requiring vendors to set out the full details of the terms of payment as agreed between vendor and purchaser for the purchase of each specified residential property if they have offered any discount, gift, financial advantage or benefit to the purchasers in the sales of first-hand residential properties. Such information would assist prospective purchasers to better understand the market conditions and obtain accurate information to make informed decisions when purchasing first-hand residential properties. Moreover, the Register of Transactions should be self-contained so that prospective purchasers do not have to refer to other documents or materials for details of the terms of payment.

In addition, the SRPA has launched an Announcement in the Public Interest for broadcast on radio stations today to remind prospective purchasers that if they are going to bid for a first-hand residential property, they should refer to the Register of Transactions of the development before bidding to know the prices, rebates and benefits of similar properties; should bear in mind that the relevant rebates may affect the loan-to-value ratio and the mortgage amount; and should make a deliberate decision before bidding as the deposit will be forfeited if they do not make a purchase after a successful bid.

"The SRPA has all along been taking a three-pronged approach to enforce the Ordinance, i.e. to step up compliance checks, inspections, as well as collection of required evidence for prosecutions; to continuously improve the trade's compliance with the Ordinance; and to foster public awareness of the Ordinance. The Government will take action seriously on any cases involving insufficient transparency in the sales process and transaction information. We will continue to monitor closely the sales of first-hand residential properties by tender to ensure that the level of transparency of the sales of first-hand residential properties by tender is the same as that for open sales with price lists," a spokesman for the SRPA said.

Woman holding charged with manslaughter

Police today (May 17) laid a holding charge against an 89-year-old woman with one count of manslaughter.

The woman was arrested yesterday (May 16) in suspected connection with a manslaughter case in Sau Mau Ping on the same day, in which an 85-year-old woman died.

The case will be mentioned at Kwun Tong Magistrates' Courts tomorrow (May 18).

Hong Kong Customs combats sale of counterfeit jewellery \(with photos\)

Hong Kong Customs yesterday (May 16) conducted an anti-counterfeiting operation to combat the sale of counterfeit jewellery. A total of 7 110 suspected counterfeit goods were seized, including jewellery, wallets and handbags with an estimated market value of about $400,000.

Customs earlier received information alleging the sale of counterfeit jewellery at fixed hawker pitches in Mong Kok. After in-depth investigation with the assistance of the trademark owner, Customs officers took enforcement action yesterday and raided five fixed hawker pitches in the district. The batch of suspected counterfeit goods were also seized.

During the operation, one man and three women were arrested, including one stall owner and three salespersons, aged from 30 to 41.

Investigations are ongoing.

Customs will continue to step up inspection and enforcement to combat sale of counterfeit goods.

Customs reminds consumers to procure goods at reputable shops and to check with the trademark owners or their authorised agents if the authenticity of a product is in doubt.

Customs also reminds traders to be cautious and prudent in merchandising since the sale of counterfeit goods is a serious crime and offenders are liable to criminal sanctions.

Under the Trade Descriptions Ordinance, any person who sells or possesses for sale any goods with a forged trademark commits an offence. The maximum penalty upon conviction is a fine of $500,000 and imprisonment for five years.

Members of the public may report any suspected infringing activities to Customs' 24-hour hotline 2545 6182 or its dedicated crime-reporting email account (crimereport@customs.gov.hk).

Lifesaving services suspended at Cafeteria Old Beach

Attention TV/radio announcers:

Please broadcast the following as soon as possible and repeat it at regular intervals:

The Leisure and Cultural Services Department announced today (May 17) that due to an insufficient number of lifeguards on duty, the lifesaving services at Cafeteria Old Beach in Tuen Mun District have been suspended until further notice.

First aid services will be maintained at the beach.

Missing woman in Yuen Long located

A woman who went missing in Yuen Long has been located.

Lau Pui-shan, aged 33, went missing after she was last seen on Fung Lok Lane on May 8 morning. Her boyfriend made a report to Police on May 10.

The woman returned to her residence this morning (May 17).