

New Defence Secretary sets out commitment to AUKUS to drive regional British growth

New Defence Secretary, John Healey, has set out Britain's commitment to the AUKUS partnership as an important driver of jobs and growth.

Young Brits warned of dangers of modern slavery abroad

Young people travelling to popular holiday destinations to work in bars and clubs have been given advice on the dangers of labour exploitation.

£350 million programme to upgrade RAF Lossiemouth completed

The Ministry of Defence (MOD) is celebrating the completion of the Lossiemouth Development Programme (LDP) – a 6-year, £350 million project to upgrade RAF Lossiemouth in Moray.

New measures to root out security training malpractice

An update from Paul Fullwood, SIA Director of Inspections and Enforcement. Paul is leading the SIA's drive against training malpractice.

A boost for small businesses: Defence Innovation Loans are open for applications

Aimed at SMEs, DASA's Defence Innovation Loans are designed to bridge the gap between product development and commercialisation.