

Tracking technology used to help rare wading bird in UK first

Natural England is using pioneering technology to track the movement and habitat preferences of a small wading bird, Jack Snipe, for the first time in the UK.

Chair of the Independent Monitoring Authority appointed

The Secretary of State for Justice and Lord Chancellor has announced the appointment of Nicole Lappin to the role of Chair of the Independent Monitoring Authority.

Angler-driven Citizen Science study on barbel stocking

Study will explore whether stocking barbel in larger rivers, such as the River Severn, can enhance fish stock health and create more opportunities for anglers.

UK backs Forensics Workshop in India on gender-based violence

The UK Government has participated in an International Forensics Workshop in Goa with the aim of supporting justice for victims of gender-based violence.

Change of His Majesty's Ambassador to Mali: Angus Mckee

Mr Angus McKee OBE has been appointed His Majesty's Ambassador to the Republic of Mali in succession to Ms Katharine Ransome.