

RAF Typhoons scramble from UK and Estonia to intercept Russian aircraft

The Typhoon fighter jets demonstrated the sizable scope of the Royal Air Force's (RAF) contribution to European security after scrambling from two locations in two separate incidents on the same day.

The Challenge of Regulation in an Age of Advanced Automation

How much can a regulator understand the autonomous safety systems that transcend traditional levels of automation and what level of assurance can be provided?

RAF Typhoons scrambled twice in two days to intercept Russian military aircraft

Royal Air Force Typhoon fighter jets have intercepted five Russian military aircraft in the last two days; four after launching on Monday and another today.

UK joins international maritime security mission in the Gulf

The United Kingdom has reaffirmed its commitment to freedom of navigation and safe passage through the Gulf.

£350m Typhoon engine support contract

The MOD has signed a contract worth almost £350 million to support the engines that power the UK's fleet of Typhoon fighter jets.