Channel 4's 'My Week As A Muslim' Provokes Backlash

Channel 4's recent programme, 'My Week As A Muslim' has provoked a furious backlash from muslims and non muslims alike.

The documentary went to the lengths of getting a white woman to go undercover in 'brownface' makeup in an attempt to show the prejudice faced by Muslim women. Katie Freeman, who previously supported banning the burqa faced abuse from many non muslims, including drinkers in a Manchester pub, asking her whether she planned to blow them up.

Overstretched UK Border Force to be used to enforce EU Habitats Directive in UK fisheries

UKIP fisheries spokesman, Mike Hookem MEP, has slammed a decision to use the “scant resources” of Border Force to police EU environmental law on a Kent sandbank, saying, “the priority of Border Force on the South-East Coast should be protecting Britain from illegal migration and criminal activity; not persecuting fishermen for potential breaches of EU environmental law.”
