

Enhancing rural skills at Kirkton and Auchtertyre

Students from SRUC's Elmwood campus recently spent time enhancing the environment around SRUC's Strathfillan Wigwams tourism business on Kirkton and Auchtertyre farms.

Discussing Brexit and the environment at Westminster

Davy McCracken, SRUC Professor of Agricultural Ecology, recently attended a meeting in London to discuss the likely impacts of Brexit on the UK and Scottish environment.

SRUC food and drink on display at new food festival

Food and Drink at SRUC hosted the demonstration theatre at a new indoor food festival held in the East Neuk of Fife.

Agricultural scientists call for new global crop alliance to support food security

A group of world-leading crop scientists, including the Principal & Chief Executive of SRUC, has called for a global crop network to systematically tackle threats to global food security.

School pupils enjoy a Kickstart

School pupils from schools across the south east and south west of Scotland enjoyed a day of interactive workshops at the Edinburgh campus of Scotland's Rural College (SRUC).