

Spring calving warning

After a summer of exceptional grass growth, beef cows across the country are generally in very good condition.

Teaming up to tackle entanglement

In the first workshop of its kind in Europe, creel fishermen and women from around Scotland gathered in the Highlands to tackle the problem of marine animal entanglement.

Not so wild goose chase

Countryside Management students from Scotland's Rural College joined TV presenter Michaela Strachan on a wild goose chase for the latest series of the BBC's popular wildlife programme Autumnwatch.

Windfarm windfall boosts businesses

A company that rents electric bikes was among a number of Scottish rural businesses to benefit from a windfarm windfall.

Harvesting Hallowe'en pumpkins

Horticulture and Garden Design students Will Ross, Rachel Elliot and Simon Drozdek harvested pumpkins for Hallowe'en at Scotland's Rural College.