

Back to the future for potatoes

The continuing uncertainty over Brexit and the challenges facing conventional pesticides will be among the important topics on the agenda at this year's potato industry conference.