

Back to the future

The importance of ensuring a future for 'high nature value' farmlands across the globe has been highlighted in a new paper published by a consortium of European scientists.