

Bad deals

Versions of a possible deal for the UK with the EU have today been denied by the government. That's sensible of them. All the versions I have seen are not Brexit. Let's just leave, spend our own money, and negotiate a free trade deal once the EU has realised we are out. There's nothing on offer worth £39bn.