

Badger sett and match

Countryside Management students at Scotland's Rural College are learning how to survey badgers as part of a new course being delivered at its West Lothian campus.