

Bathing season kicks off across England for 2024

The bathing water season has started today, with monitoring by the Environment Agency now underway.