BBC Media Action completes training in Honiara on audience research

Objective of the training is to narrow information gap between voters and media organisations in preparation for General Elections in Solomon Islands.