

Billions more for councils to build back better

Councils in England will receive £53.9 billion in funding for the coming financial year, including more than £1 billion of additional funding for social care.