

Biometrics Commissioner praises government on a 'decent job', but warns it's 'only half done'

Professor Sampson praises the government on its decision not to hand oversight of police use of DNA and fingerprints to the ICO.