

Bravery Through Time: The Evolution of Modern Britain's Fire Service

A new National Fire Service was inaugurated on 18 August 1941, which consolidated and unified the service across Britain.