

Bringing HK people home

The COVID-19 pandemic has brought global air traffic to a near standstill and left many Hong Kong people stranded abroad. At this critical juncture the Immigration Department has assisted thousands of people in returning home.

News.gov.hk spoke with two immigration officers to learn how the department coped with a sudden surge in requests for help during the pandemic.

The story appears on news.gov.hk today (June 28) in text and video format.