

British businesses celebrate as rules of origin to South Korea extended

The UK has secured a two-year extension to rules which help British companies to access lower or zero tariffs when selling goods to South Korea.