

British CERN partner sights international growth with new financing deal

A small manufacturer trusted by scientists across six continents receives new export funding.