

British investors targeted in first government advertising push for scale-up boost

A new campaign aimed at driving up investment opportunities in scale-ups was launched by the Technology Secretary today.