

British military engineers support Poland following devastating floods

Specialist team of Royal Engineers are offering expert advice and support to strengthen the Polish response