

C-LEO programme kicks off with £60 million for satellite constellation ideas

Up to £60 million is available for innovations that will help boost the UK's satellite communications sector, following the record number of global satellite launches in 2023.