

Census and Statistics Department appeals to respondents to respond to statistical surveys through online and telephone means

In view of the latest developments of the COVID-19 epidemic situation, a Census and Statistics Department (C&SD) spokesman today (January 13) appealed to survey respondents to complete its surveys through online questionnaire or telephone interview in order to reduce face-to-face contacts. Details on how to use the online questionnaire and the enquiry telephone numbers of the surveys are provided in the invitation letters delivered to the respondents by the C&SD.

The C&SD conducts a number of statistical surveys continuously for compiling important statistical indicators such as unemployment rate, wage index and retail sales to reflect the latest social and economic situations of Hong Kong.

For enquiries regarding the surveys, please contact the C&SD at 2582 4798 or by email to household-survey@censtatd.gov.hk.
