

Certificates recognising heartbreak of losing a baby extended

All parents who have experienced losing a pregnancy can apply for a certificate formally recognising their loss, the government has announced.