

Certification for vaccine clinical trial participants

An open letter calling for leaders to recognise vaccine trial participants as having legitimate certification for international travel and other purposes.