

Chief Secretary to the Treasury praises “flourishing” FTSE companies for investing in skills

The Chief Secretary to the Treasury today praised Britain’s businesses for boosting the skills of their workforces and “investing in the British people” by taking on apprentices as part of a roundtable to turbo-charge the UK...