

China's Long-March 2C rocket success

China's Long-March 2C rocket has blasted off from the Xichang satellite launch center in Sichuan Province, successfully sending three remote sensing satellites into the orbit.

China's Long-March 2C rocket blasted off from Xichang satellite launch center in Sichuan Province, on September 29, 2017. [Photo/People's Daily]

This is the 251st launch of the Long-March series rockets.

The launch comes 89 days after the failure of the launch of the Long-March 5 Y-2.