

Chlamydia screening to focus on reducing harm from untreated infections

The National Chlamydia Screening Programme (NCSP) will focus testing on women, who are at highest risk of serious consequences from the infection.