

CMA closes ESS case following developments in the market

The CMA has closed its investigation into education software firm ESS after developments in the market meant its intervention is not currently needed.