

CMA outlines scope of market investigation into cloud services

The CMA will explore whether technical barriers, fees to transfer data, volume discounts and software licensing practices are hindering competition in cloud services.