

CMA seeks views on landbanks and planning rules

The CMA has published the final set of working papers – focused on landbanks and planning rules – as part of its ongoing market study into housebuilding.