

Coastal adaptation projects in South West England to receive £6m in funding

Three communities in the South West allocated £6 million to support adaptation to coastal erosion