

Commission for Countering Extremism launches a legal review to examine effectiveness of existing legislation relevant to hateful extremism

The independent Commission for Countering Extremism (CCE) launches a legal review, to examine whether existing legislation adequately deals with hateful extremism.