

Communities in Scotland handed control of £212 million levelling up funding

The UK Shared Prosperity Fund will help spread opportunity, and could be used to regenerate high streets, fight crime, or help more people into good jobs.