

Consultation launched to make food labelling fairer and clearer

Environment Secretary launches proposals to make food labelling clearer and fairer, delivering on commitment to back British farming