

Consultation on setting an end date for the sale of new non-zero emission buses

Government seeks to make zero-emission buses the default choice for operators to transition to green transport sooner.